KST PRESENTS: SUMMER 2022 WELCOME HOME

It has been a delight to welcome audiences back into Kelly Strayhorn Theater and KST's Alloy Studios all year! And we are thrilled to present a summer of programming that continues to center creative experimentation, community dialogue, and collective action rooted in the liberation of Black and queer people. Welcome Home!

In June, Theater Communications Group (TCG) will have its first national conference in over two years in Pittsburgh. This event will welcome hundreds of national theater practitioners to town, and for the occasion, we are proudly remounting commissioned performances from Pittsburgh artists Lyam B. Gabel and Adil Mansoor. Also don't miss parties featuring TQ Live! with SUPA' NxC, Remy Black, Drake, Jesse Factor and DJ HUNY, and Vibes N'at, a celebration of the Pittsburgh BIPOC theater community with Jacquea Mae, Alumni Theater Company, Mita Ghosal, DJ Samira Mendoza and more!

The Alloy School is back in July with a 4-week session of classes including Hip Hop, Jazz Ballet, Creative Play: Water World and Dance Fit (18+). July also brings the return of KST's summer fundraiser, reinvented as House Party on Saturday, July 16! If that weren't enough, Legacy Arts Project is bringing Dance Africa back to the KST stage July 28-29. There will be performances and a marketplace with off site workshops.

Things quiet down in August while PearlArts' PearlDiving Movement Residencies take place. Don't miss the Friday, August 26 showing of projects-in-development from selected artists.

There is so much joy and artistic expression to experience this summer. Can't wait to see you at home at KST!

See you at home,

JOSEPH HALL

THE DANCE FLOOR, THE HOSPITAL ROOM, AND THE KITCHEN TABLE

ABOUT THE SHOW

Three queer researchers slip between the present and the past, becoming, interacting with, and learning from a chorus of voices from a critical moment in the queer liberation movement. the dance floor, the hospital room, and the kitchen table is a performance, immersive media project, and archive of queer care that stitches together stories from COVID-19 and the HIV/AIDS epidemic. The script draws from interviews with caretakers, activists, organizers, and long-term survivors, and a companion app will allow the audience to access and add to the archive of queer care used in the performance.

Content advisory: the dance floor, the hospital room, and the kitchen table includes references to sex and sexuality, depression and suicide, drinking and drug use, illness, death and dying, racism, sexism, homophobia, transphobia. The production includes images of full nudity, onstage partial nudity, and the use of haze & strobe effects.

"AN ARCHIVE OF QUEER CARE"

the dance floor, the hospital room, and the kitchen table was developed over residencies at the drama league, the New Orleans Contemporary Arts Center and Dancing Grounds. Other artists who participated in the development include Rachel Nelson, Pam Roberts, and a.r. Havel.

the dance floor, the hospital room, and the kitchen table was originally developed at Carnegie Mellon University as a part of the John Wells Directing Fellowship. Artists involved in that production included Miller Krapps, Simone Joy Jones, Gil Rodriguez, Hannah Gluvna, Sanghwa Shin, Kaiti Barta, Moses Garcia, Stephanie Akpapuna, and Josh Brown. Kim Weild, Caden Manson, and Lawrence Shea supported the script development over that period.

the dance floor, the hospital room, and the kitchen table is a National Performance Network (NPN) Creation & Development Fund Project co-commissioned by Contemporary Arts Center, New Orleans, Chatham University, Contemporary Arts Center, and NPN. For more information www.npnweb.org. the dance floor, the hospital room, and the kitchen table by Lyam B. Gabel received developmental support as part of the 2021 Director Residency Program of The Drama League of New York. (Gabriel Stelian-Shanks, Artistic Director; Bevin Ross, Executive Director). A version was workshopped at Carnegie Mellon University School of Drama in November 2019 and received additional support from the Carnegie Mellon University GSA/Provost GuSH Grant.

ABOUT THE ARTISTS

Lyam B. Gabel (they/he) is a trans* director, performance-maker, and community organizer who creates containers for collective remembering and radical celebration. He is obsessed with archives and his ever-evolving process combines extensive research, emerging technology, and embodied improvisation. He worked for eight years in New Orleans where they founded LAST CALL, a collective that documents and interprets neglected queer history. With LAST CALL they co-created and co-directed Alleged Lesbian Activities, a nationally touring musical about the history of lesbian bars. They are a member of New Orleans physical theater ensemble NEW NOISE where they directed Jubilee, a dinner and performance that asks white audiences to interrupt familial patterns of racism. Now they are exploring queer care from 1980s-present with the dance floor, the hospital room, and the kitchen table which received a NPN Creation Fund commission. They regularly collaborate with playwrights and solo performers and have developed work at Ars Nova, Judson Church, Pipeline, Ashland New Plays Festival, The Theater Offensive, and The New Orleans CAC among others. Lyam teaches acting and directing at Lehigh University. Drama League Resident 2021, Drama League Fellow 2017, Distillery Artist New Orleans CAC 2016. BFA Virginia Commonwealth University, MFA Carnegie Mellon University.

Joseph Amodei (they/them) is a new media artist, theater designer, activist, and educator. Their work combines innovative technology, extensive research, and hope for alternate futures to invite audiences into a communal process of debriefing and re-learning. Their work seeks to make material differences with and for people at the intersection of art and technology. Joseph grew up in North Carolina, where they received a BFA in Studio Art from UNC-Chapel Hill. Joseph completed their MFA in Video and Media Design at Carnegie Mellon. Currently, they are a Professor of Immersive Media at Chatham University. Recent work has explored voter suppression + gerrymandering, immersive archive creation + queer care, the HIV/AIDS crisis + performance, and COVID-19 vaccine access + issues of health equity. www.jamodei.com

Hannah Cornish (she/her) is a care-focused theatre maker, performing artist, and historian. She is a 2019 apprentice of the One Year Lease Theater Company with whom she is currently developing and appearing in their upcoming production, Wake. She formerly interned with The Davis Shakespeare Festival, performed with The Children's Museum of Pittsburgh, and taught with Harmony - Pittsburgh, an organization that specializes in inspiring theatrical joy in individuals of all ages with disabilities. She is passionate about work that investigates grief, distorts the illusion that history is a complete and fixed truth, and embraces the sweet catharsis of a dance break. Hannah received a BA in Social & Political History from Carnegie Mellon University and is now based in Philadelphia. Upcoming productions include Wake (One Year Lease Theater Co) and The Father Who Stayed (One Year Lease Theater Co).

ABOUT THE ARTISTS

Jen Davis (they/them) is trans* multidisciplinary artist and producer most interested in the way that performance, immersive design, and communal experience can incubate structural change. The first iteration of their installation series Artifacts of Transition premiered at The Front Gallery in February 2021. As Program Director at the Contemporary Arts Center in New Orleans, they have curated, supported and produced the work of artists including Leyla McCalla, Mondo Bizarro, and PearlDamour, commissioned and incubated new work by emerging artists, and created the CAC's current Residency Program, serving visual and performing artists based in New Orleans.

jean-luc raimond deladurantaye (they/them) is a non-binary multi-media artist and maker, with a primary focus in clothing and moving image art. They are motivated by the tensions seen in day-to-day life, compelled by the beauty inherent in simplicity, and moved by the unconscious repetitions inherent in our lives. Using film and clothes as mediums to elicit radical change, they are interested in eliminating all binaries, working towards Abolition, and using radical listening and connectivity as actions that center the stories of the Global majority in order to combat racism and transphobia in the entertainment industry. jean-luc has exhibited work at the 2019 Prague Quadrennial as part of the PQ Studio. Recently they have worked as the costume department coordinator for Fire Island - a fictional gay Rom-Com - and Rustin - a biopic that examines the life of the gay civil rights activist Bayard Rustin. Upcoming design work includes this collaboration on the dance floor, the hospital room, and the kitchen table and fashion styling for commercials and music videos. @jeanluc_ramond on instagram. jeanlucraimond.com

Owen Ever (he/they) is a multidisciplinary theater maker committed to wonder, history, and healthcare justice. As a company member of Goat in the Road Productions they have recently co-written/produced theatrical interpretations of historic spaces including Sick Notes, The Uninvited and The Stranger Disease (recipient of two awards of excellence from the American Association for State and Local History). They are also an ensemble member of The Radical Buffoons and Vagabond Inventions and have designed for Last Call: Queer Histories/Queer Futures and LOUD: Queer Youth Theater. As a therapeutic clown with Prescription Joy, they work in pediatric intensive care in the service of healing the whole human through honesty, humor and play. As a direct support specialist at Project Lazarus, they work towards healing and empowering people living with HIV through housing, mental health and harm reduction services. With the media company Lonesome Friends of Science they are a co-producer and host of an upcoming podcast about queer sexual exuberance called A Field Guide to Gay Animals. Owen has a BFA in interdisciplinary sculpture from Maryland Institute College of Art, is a graduate of Going With Grace end-of-life doula program, and is a new member of the What Would an HIV Doula Do collective. From 2011-2020 they were a curator, educator and medical historian at The New Orleans Pharmacy Museum. They have resided in Bulbancha (New Orleans) since 2009.

ABOUT THE ARTISTS

Eben Joondeph Hoffer (he/him) is a theater artist who makes live shows about how Big Ideas and Big Feelings change the world. His practice includes directing, writing, sound and music, lighting, and scenery. Eben has made work and toured widely with Royal Osiris Karaoke Ensemble, Advanced Beginner Group, Big Dance Theater, and 600 Highwaymen. Some recent projects: Memory Habit, a lecture performance about intergenerational trauma and pop-reminiscence of the Holocaust; Atlas of Depression, a social practice project and verbatim retelling of student experiences of mental illness while on a college campus; Awesome Grotto!, a media ritual about the YouTube Haul video phenomenon and commodifying Everything (2 Bessie noms 2019). In progress, Post Office Poems, a spoken word concert about experiencing 2020 from the perspective of a person carrying your mail, written by a USPS letter carrier. He co-recorded and engineered Esperanza Spalding's 2021 GRAMMY-nominated album Songwrights Apothecary Lab. BA Williams College, MFA Carnegie Mellon (directing).

Sasha Schwartz (she/her) is a theater scenic designer and artist primarily inspired by family and how spaces tell stories. Selected designs: Heisenberg (Northern Stage Company), Bruise & Thorn (Pipeline Theatre Company), How the Light Gets In, On the Exhale, Agent 355 (Chautauqua Theater Company), pato, pato, maricón (Ars Nova ANT Fest), Young Playwrights Festival (City Theatre Company), Terminer (New Hazlett Theater), Men on Boats (Fordham University), The Amateurs (Willamette University). Recognition: 2019 USITT Young Designers and Technicians Forum, 2019 Lloyd Weninger Award for Stage Design, 2021 Exhibited Fine Artist at Pittsburgh MuseumLab (Mixed Family Portrait). Sasha is especially interested in new work, arts education, and projects that showcase diversity of identity while tackling relevant social issues. She is an advocate for inclusivity and accessibility within theater teams and more representation of BIPOC and queer voices in the arts industries. She considers her design process empathetic, crafty, and ultra-collaborative. Education: BFA Carnegie Mellon University School of Drama. sashaschwartzscenic.com

André Segar is a world traveling African American Lighting Designer and graduate of Carnegie Mellon University School of Drama Class of 2021 with a BFA in Lighting Design. Here he has designed two shows: the dance floor, the hospital room, and the kitchen table, as well as Men On Boats. He has also designed for reputable summer stocks like Williamstown Theatre Festival where he designed Tell Sad Stories of the Death of Queens. Before returning to school to better his education he had designed for numerous Orlando productions such as Hedwig and the Angry Inch, starring Ginger-Minij; Spring Awakening the Musical; and Bye Bye Birdie. He has traveled the world with touring companies such as Royal Caribbean Cruise Line International; Feld Entertainment; and NetWorks Entertainment where he worked on shows such as Disney on Ice; Marvel Universe Live; and Dirty Dancing the Musical, respectively.

ABOUT THE ARTISTS

kei slaughter (they/them) is a non-binary musician, composer, performing artist, and sonic storyteller who believes in the power of music to conjure healing, embody freedom, and activate radical authenticity. kei grew up in a musical family, harmonizing hymns around the Sunday dinner table while singing and preaching in Afro-diasporic congregations. Queering their roots in the Black Church, kei blends soulful soundscapes and contemplative artistry with musical storytelling and community care. Their creative compositions range from folk songs, roots-n-blues, and pop tunes to concert lyric pieces, experimental flute tracks, and electronic vocal looping of Black spirituals. kei has performed on reputable national and international stages as a solo act/bandleader and in collaboration with beloved interdisciplinary projects, including Last Call's Alleged Lesbian Activities (composer/co-music director/performer), Naama Tsabar's Composition 21 (songwriter/performer), among others. Featured artist/songs on: United Bakery Records Revue I compilation "Land Loss" (2017) and Acoustic Guitar Project "River Run" (2019)A clinical music therapist and Founder of S O U L F O L K Sounds, a music and wellness practice centering LGBTQIA+ BIPOC, kei affectionately works at the intersections of holistic healing, trauma stewardship, and abolition, both in private practice and community mental health.
